Introduction

The submission of this report is required by the Kentucky Department of Education (KDE) as part of Unbridled Learning: College/Career Readiness for All accountability system. Document each of your school's required Program Reviews under the "Diagnostic" tab and then add each completed component to this document for submission. Each of the required Program Review components is listed below. Work with your district and Site Based Decision Making Council (SBDM) to obtain feedback and approval prior to clicking the submit button. Once submitted, this report will be made available to your district for review and approval.

Program Review: Writing

Introduction

This report contains Program Review results for Writing. This program review is required as part of Kentucky's new assessment and accountability model. A Program Review is a systematic method of analyzing components of an instructional program, including instructional practices, aligned and enacted curriculum, student works samples, formative and summative assessments, professional development and support services, and administrative support and monitoring. (KRS 158.6453(l)(i))

Diagnostic tools to capture and report the results from these program reviews are contained in the AdvancED's Adaptive System of School Improvement Support Tools (ASSIST). ASSIST allows schools and institutions to gain better understanding of past successes and opportunities, and confidently build a solid, research-based improvement plan for the future.

Curriculum and Instruction: Student Access

All students have equitable access to high quality curriculum and instruction. Full implementation of a writing curriculum encompasses reading, speaking and listening opportunities.

Evidence is identified to support the school's analysis for each of the demonstrators. Program review evidence may be specific for an area (Writing, Arts & Humanities, and Practical Living/Career Studies) or may be common across other reviews. Review teams will likely find they need to search out additional evidence during the program review process in order to make judgments or to support judgments.

We have a SBDM policy 8.01 that ensure all students have equitable access to high quality curriculum and instruction. We have a writing policy 22.01 and plan. Students create, perform, and respond in many courses. Curriculum maps are aligned to KCAS and on our district website. For high quality instruction, teachers are trained in Learning 360 and meet weekly in at least 2 PLCs (sometimes 3). Regular walk-throughs, instructional rounds, and Observation 360 WTs ensure the fidelity of implementation of trainings and that the curriculum maps are followed. Writings across the curriculum are intentionally planned through the writing plan (ELA - short stories, personal narrative, articles, and arguments. Science-Conservation and research pieces, PE - journaling, reflections, Bully Prevention Unit - students wrote a script for a bully-free play rendition of Rudolph The Red-Nosed Reindeer/designed sets/acted, watched videos and analyzed types of bullying, scenarios, role play, etc.). We have an Assessment Policy 13.02, SSS Policy 5.01, and Student Achievement Policy 5.02 that all ensure that data is used to address student needs. All teachers are trained in literacy & differentiation strategies and implementation is monitored by the curriculum specialist who volunteers in our building. Literacy is presented by ELA teachers in PDs, PLCs, and G-days. Differentiation is trained by Learning 360 (Steve Olsen and teachers he has trained, Principal) and WKSEC 3-year co-teaching initiative. We also work with the University of Louisville in an Academic and Behavior Response to Intervention (ABRI) team. We review data and devise plans to address it. We meet monthly via Skype. ALL students have access to the curriculum.

Curriculum is aligned vertically (G-day and PD days) and horizontally (PLC time) to KCAS and revisited regularly to ensure it is meeting student needs. Congruency protocols, which are used regularly, ensure that assessment (and thus instruction since we backward design) is congruent to standards. SBDM policies 8.01, 8.02, and 13.01 ensure that current and future curriculum will be aligned vertically and horizontally to KCAS for ELA. Students read, write, speak, listen, and use language skills across content areas. Some writing activities this year included argumentative writings in seventh grade social studies (Alexander the Great, Hero or Villain), consumerism Facebook User age, combined eighth grade science and language arts (The establishment of a new rock quarry in Livingston County), and seventh grade language arts (choice of three topics). Informative writings included Conservation Essay in science classes, 8th grade math did a one-step equation brochure, etc. Think, Write, Pair, Share is a strategy used extensively in all classes. Teachers are trained in implementing literacy strategies by meeting with curriculum specialist (who volunteers occasionally) in PLCs, in co-teaching with her, and PD/G-days. The curriculum provides opportunities for student use of technology through a 7th grade computer class. In addition, all courses use tech for research when writing articles and arguments. All students use tech to access AR, ILPs, and take multiple surveys. They regularly use the ILP (District ILP Plan) in every class to access, manage, integrate and create information. They do a research project in Career Studies on a career and present their PowerPoint to the class. The Writing Plan has a timeline for REGULAR, varied writings in EVERY course at LCMS. We value 21st century skills so much that we incorporated these skills on our PD plan, Commitment statement, and trainings.

We were provided Learning 360 instructional strategies in PDs. Leadership attends DLT & ISLN meetings and brings back information to share with the faculty. An ELA teacher attends the ELA Network meeting and shares in PLCs. A science teacher attends PASS network and shares with staff. One ELA teacher attended an On-Demand Writing training and shared materials and information with the entire staff in a G-day (Planning Day). An ELA teacher also attended a constructed response writing training and shared at PLCs. Student writing models are used to teach specific writing objectives. The products created by students (argument writing, Propaganda PowerPoints, Career PowerPoints, Conservation Essay, letters written in math class, etc.) may be used by others for further understanding of the topic. Students use computers to do research for articles and argumentative writings, as well as to put together presentations using PowerPoint, Word, or Publisher. Students use tech to access AR, AM, ALEKS, APEX, surveys, MAP, ILP, etc. The afore mentioned student research projects require both on-line and off-line resources so that students integrate and analyze information to develop understanding and communication. Students write across the curriculum using varying strategies and demonstrate an understanding of communicating to audiences in different forms and for various purposes. The yearbook staff puts out a monthly newsletter. The STLP creates televised announcements. The Bully Prevention Unit consisted of creating a play and set. The Career Studies classes did PowerPoints about their career plans and presented to the class. Students participate in peer review of writings, for the purpose of refining literacy products. Students also collaborate with teachers, post-secondary partner Constance Alexander, and the high school Honors English teacher (when she volunteers) to design and refine literacy products. Students had choice of three topics for argumentative article in seventh grade. Seventh and Eighth grade students take a class that focuses on speaking and listening skills and are required to participate in discussion circles.

Students are provided with intentional scheduling for writing for different purposes within school in all disciplines. Students are required to complete writing to learn and writing to demonstrate learning. Students create discussions (read/listen/speak), writings, oral presentations, etc. in all classes for specific purposes. Student receive writing instruction in LA classes, but use these skills in all classes. Student are required to complete a portfolio of best writing at the end of the 8th grade to include argumentative, informational, and narrative writings. Students are required to produce both on demand writings and published writings that require more revision and editing. Students are provided opportunities to build on ideas of others and articulate their own thinking with respect to cultural differences. Student have experience working effectively with people from a range of social and cultural backgrounds. Students are encouraged to share & respect differences through day-to-day activities. Teachers incorporate specific activities and lessons to expose students to a variety of culturally diverse experience, utilizing special speakers and internet access. Students have products in their communications folder and OneDrive showing collaboration with teachers, peers, and others in problem solving and generating products that are tied to curriculum and learning goals. We are beginning to use the MDC and LDC tasks to help with this too. Others include special speakers, invited guests, parents, curriculum specialists that collaborate with students and teachers, etc. Students reference quality work of others as models to inform their work. Teachers provide examples from the Kentucky Marker Papers, Literature and Writer's Choice Books, novels using the KCAS Standards, Kentucky Student Samples (Annotated), Released Test Annotated items, and various other resources including books and websites. We have a school writing plan that we follow. Pieces from each class found in the student's writing portfolio will show that students can communicate in each discipline with a specific purpose. We strongly work to encourage student engagement and class discussion. Students have grown in articulating their ideas verbally. Students attended two cultural performances with presenters of diverse backgrounds and reflected on these presentations.

Teachers have met on G-days, PD Days, and PLCs to develop and align assessments across grade levels and content areas. Teachers meet in a minimum of 2 PLCs each week. They have 4 PD days and 5 G-days each year. They may use LYNC or SKYPE to collaborate with teachers in other counties, etc. They use CIITS to track assessment data. Departmental PLCs complete a congruency protocol regularly to ensure the assessments are congruent to the standard. Teachers have on-going, job embedded, extensive training with Learning 360, PD 360 videos/forums/groups/etc., networks, and CASL to improve the use of formative and summative assessments. ELA teachers meet twice a year or more with representatives from all schools and the district level to discuss vertical needs in the literacy program. The LCMS Writing Policy and Plan have been developed and implemented. Leadership monitors their implementation and helps non-ELA teachers when they have concerns with writing. Summative assessments given are aligned with grade level standards. Formative assessment trainings have been given to all teachers and are used consistently to drive instruction. Data is disaggregated in PLCs and changes are made as necessary. We have a LCMS SBDM Assessment Policy 13.02 that ensures that we respond to FA data appropriately. Walk-Throughs, Instructional Rounds, Observation 360 reports will show that we have ever-improving data in this area and are implementing the training that we receive with fidelity. Students use feedback that they are given by peers, teachers, others to revise their products. Teachers provide ongoing opportunities for students to revise and apply new learning before summative products are assessed. Students are encouraged to check their learning through several formative assessment opportunities through a unit of study. Teachers revise teaching accordingly, and students are offered opportunities to learn using different strategies. Students are encouraged to retake summative assessments when standards are not met. Students use AM Study Hall, Lunch Study Hall, tutoring, OZONE for extra time to meet with teachers and receive individual help with learning.

Formative and Summative Assessment: Expectations for Student Learning

Teachers communicate consistently high expectations and use common standards for student learning in writing.

Teachers ensure students know expectations for their work by making student-friendly learning targets and formatively assessing throughout lessons. Then, teachers co-develop rubrics with students. Next, examples of strong and weak work are shared and compared to the rubrics. Discussion ensues, using critical content vocabulary, and students justify why exemplar work is strong or weak. Scoring guides/rubrics include peer, self, teacher, other columns for feedback. The products are revised after each feedback step. Student use peer revision sheets and work through the writing process from prewriting to publishing. Teachers and students collaborate to set writing and communication goals that are standards-based and informed by feedback and assessments. These goals based on summative assessment through MAP, EXPLORE, class grades, etc. are entered into the student agenda after discussion with the teacher. These goals are standards based because all of our assessments are standards based per a SBDM policy. An example of a standards based writing SMART goal is "I will score a 219 RIT on the MAP Language Usage test in Writing/PODRR in Spring 2013." The MAP test is based on standards. When students evaluate their target attainment, they are also setting goals. We have self-assessment sheets for them to do this. Teachers plan with students to make writing goals through writing reflections as outline in the writing plan. Teachers and students review test scores from MAP, K-PREP, and EXPLORE, as well as classroom formative and summative assessment to inform instruction that is standards-based. Teachers have been trained to use formative assessment through CASL and Learning 360/PD 360. Some goals are entered into the student agenda book and ILP goals section. Teachers and students engage in self-assessment to monitor progress toward meeting writing and communication goals. Student self assess through writing reflections as outlined in the writing plan and using rubrics. Teachers work in PLCs to use congruency protocols and Tuning Protocols to improve instruction by monitoring progress of writing and communication goals by determining the effectiveness of teaching procedures. Learning 360 training, PD 360 videos/forums/groups, WKSEC team, and the ABRI team ensure we have a variety of methods to support different learners. All groups (PLCs, ABRI, etc.) look at data and respond to it. Teachers and students use models as exemplars and co-develop scoring guides to assess writing and communication. Also, note hallway and classroom displays of exemplary student work. Teachers participate in a student voice survey to improve class instruction.

The CSIP is written based on needs assessment data. The CSIP and individual teacher professional growth needs drive our PD choices as we develop the PD Action Plan in the Efficiency Committee Open Meeting. The Open Meeting to develop the PD Plan was well-publicized to ALL staff, and all staff are constantly reminded via AM report, announcements, calendars, master schedule, committee sign ups, etc. to provide input in ALL school decisions. All PDs are evaluated & job embedded. The evaluation feedback is used to design the next training. The Efficiency Committee and principal analyze data from each PL opportunity and use it to improve future offerings and to ensure that training is job embedded. Data is constantly disaggregated in this school and when we see a need, we address it in PLC training. Also, teacher input drives a lot of PLC topics. PL topics are based on student needs because we disaggregate their testing and climate data to decide next steps. Learning 360 and co-teaching are research based 3-year initiatives for our school. Both support quality instruction for ALL disciplines. PL fidelity is checked via lesson plan monitoring (lesson plans uploaded to OneDrive and on teacher desk), peer observations, Observation 360, walk-throughs, and instructional rounds; IRs are paramount in suggesting next steps. PLCs enable job-embedded teacher chosen topics for professional learning. Each teacher meets at least twice each week in PLCs during school time (one grade level and one departmental). Departmental PLCs take on a teacher growth mindset and grade level PLCs discuss individual student growth. An 8-period SCHOOL day allows each teacher 2 planning periods each day. A 5-Planning Day (G-day) DISTRICT calendar allows our teachers 5 days to plan together as a full staff. Plus, they have 4 PD days that they may plan together and multiple other opportunities to collaborate as a full staff. Teachers may request any time that they need to meet to talk about student achievement and coverage will be secured for their classes.

Writing trainings are in multiple places on the plan and staff have been encouraged to ask for release days, other trainings, etc. as they find them. The principal asks for needs in summative conferences and makes suggestions. Every decision made at LCMS is data-based and based on best practices and research. PD 360 is a resource as well as colleagues and leadership. One PLC each month focuses on writing. ELA teachers meet twice a year or more with representatives from all schools and the district level to discuss vertical needs in the literacy program. LCMS is so committed to 21st Century Skills that they're listed on our PD Plan and part of our commitment statement. ELA Network and multiple other trainings allow networking outside our district. Staff may also LYNC or SKYPE with teachers from other schools, counties, states, etc.

Before the CSIP is written, a massive data analysis is done and needs assessment prepared. This drives the writing of the CSIP. The activities in the CSIP drive our potential Professional Learning Action Plan (PLAP). Then, the individual needs of the teacher are considered in tailoring a IPGP and thus IPLAP. Teachers are provided many content specific choices for PD. Impact is evident as our walk-through data is improving in some areas. Every data point that we track is improving (please see data displays in our school, Open House, School Report Card, etc.). Writing teachers lead grade level, department, and district PLCs. They attend network meetings. They present their training at school PDs, PLCs, Planning Days (G-days), etc. They are leaders on school committees, SBDM, etc. They use the Tuning Protocols to analyze student work and Congruency Protocol to analyze assessments for congruency with standards. They adjust instructional practices based on their data, discussions, etc. Writing teachers participate in advisory councils, community events, professional organizations, etc. Writing teachers have some external partners that participate as guest speakers, reality store workers, operation preparation volunteers, advisory council members to make program recommendations, etc. All teachers have a PL day planned to integrate the writing curriculum & literacy strands into their course. Teachers communicate by sharing their trainings via emails, PLCs, trainings, etc. They participate in Learning 360 forums/groups, professional organizations (KCTE), LYNC/SKYPE, and List Servs.

The LCMS Principal attends various Advisory Council meetings per meeting minutes and evidence uploaded to OneDrive (Interagency, FRYSC, 21CCLC, CSH, etc.). She asks at each meeting how we can improve our A&H, PLCS, and Writing programs. She networks to enable connections for guest speakers, field trips, etc. She brings back information to each Program during PLCs, after school meetings, emails, personal discussions, etc. She is an active member of over 13 committees, all school PLCs and committees, etc. Evidence is within minutes showing principal's attendance at Advisory Council Meetings and uploaded proof on OneDrive of emails from meetings.

Our SBDM council has devised multiple policies (22.01, etc.) ensuring that writing instruction is part of the school curriculum and is integrated in other courses. We even have this indicated in our school commitment statement. Integration is also included in our PL Action Plan. We have full class time for all ELA classes, competitions, programs, O-Zone activities, and school clubs for writing. ALL teachers are invited to Open Meetings for budget, schedule, etc. These discussions also occur in committees, SBDM, PLCs, and with principal who attends most PLCs/Committees/etc. If staff cannot attend, they are encouraged to give verbal or email input to a committee member. Reminders are sent via text, email, AM report, school announcements, calendars, newspapers, etc. Teachers are encouraged to write grants, do fundraisers, add school fees, add to supply list, ask principals, etc. if additional money is needed for program improvements. IC Class load summaries, maps, and visual observations indicate that class loads and school space are equitable and appropriate. Master schedule shows equitable planning time and that teachers participate in cross-curricular planning. Cross-Curr planning is also allowed through committee meetings, PLCs, PDs, G-days, random hallway/lunch conversations, LYNC, SKYPE, etc. Writing teachers meet with principal a minimum of monthly in Program Review meetings, PLCs, committees, etc. All decisions at LCMS are based on student needs, teacher strengths/certification/PD, ILP reports, and school data. ILP data is shared with all staff, committees, SBDM council, etc. and is used to develop master schedule, etc. per SBDM policy. Community surveys and input from advisory councils are discussed and used to address community needs too.

Leadership monitors and evaluates the teaching on a regular basis. The principal observes and evaluates by completing formal and informal observations. She attends most PLC meetings and curriculum, planning, assessment, data, etc. are discussed. The DLT also observes at least monthly (announced and unannounced). Next steps for ensuring that the curriculum is rigorous and engaging for all students is provided immediately following walk-throughs. Lesson plans are monitored over OneDrive to ensure we are keeping with the pacing guide. The master schedule shows that ALL students participate in the ELA courses and an enrichment course. Emails, AM reports, announcements, committee sign ups, master schedule/school calendar document that ALL staff are invited to the open meetings of the Efficiency Committee to plan the school budget. Writing teachers have equitable class loads and large spaces for their classes. Writing teachers have ample planning and plan with core and departmental teachers. The principal has an open door policy and will listen to any concerns and take those to the SBDM council to find solutions. Data from the ILP is shared at the April SBDM meeting. Members consider the data and planning decisions (staffing, scheduling, budgeting, etc.) are made in May. The principal and several other staff are members of

Program Review: Arts and Humanities

Introduction

This report contains Program Review results for Arts and Humanities. This program review is required as part of Kentucky's new assessment and accountability model. A Program Review is a systematic method of analyzing components of an instructional program, including instructional practices, aligned and enacted curriculum, student works samples, formative and summative assessments, professional development and support services, and administrative support and monitoring. (KRS 158.6453(l)(i)) Diagnostic tools to capture and report the results from these program reviews are contained in the AdvancED's Adaptive System of School Improvement Support Tools (ASSIST). ASSIST allows schools and institutions to gain better understanding of past successes and opportunities, and confidently build a solid, research-based improvement plan for the future.

We have SBDM policies (8.01, etc) that guarantee equitable access to high quality, rigorous, ALIGNED, differentiated curriculum in ALL courses. WKSEC and ABRI teams ensure we provide differentiated learning to all students. There are weekly vertical and horizontal PLC meetings for A&H teachers at LCMS. At these meetings, they discuss curriculum, data, assessments, etc. They use the discussions to improve their classroom instruction and thus student achievement. They use the arts tool kits and KDE curriculum. They participate in an annual K-12 Arts Curriculum Day. ELA teachers have met with them during staff meetings, PDs, and PLCs to discuss the ELA strands and ways to integrate literacy into their classrooms. Some cross-curricular integration is happening. Core teachers support cross-curricular integration between the arts and other content areas. Teachers incorporate some arts elements within their planned activities; i.e., science utilizes visual art elements to create posters and models of certain topics and skits to share information; LA incorporates visual arts and music with certain literary works, etc. Art elements are reviewed and are a part of the rubrics. We have scheduled time for this in the upcoming school year. Representative works are used to show students exemplars of strong products. Teachers use data to change instruction on a regular basis as evidenced by lesson plans, walk throughs, etc.

Learning 360 strategies are used to engage students in a productive cognitive-struggle & to teach them feedback & self-assessment skills. The focus of our arts programs (based on their mission, vision, lesson plans, displays of work, performances, etc.) is creating, performing, and responding to the arts. Teachers use many sources of exemplar works. Students have performed in multiple events this school year where they have created original works of art. Courses have had guest speakers, and we've taken arts field trips. Field trips include Shakespearean play, music competitions where our students received feedback and watched other performances, etc. Assemblies with magicians and other performers have improved student knowledge of performance, etc. The art teacher has requested guest speakers from Yeiser, etc. The music teacher has had a soloist from a local church.

Lesson plans have exemplar models listed for each unit, and these are used to show the students strong work.

Rubrics are co-developed with students PRIOR to the product-creation and include peer, self, and teacher reflection on the final product.

Each PLC must have a SMART goal for student achievement. Every teachers posts the daily target and refers to it throughout the lesson.

Students track goals in agenda and ILP.

Our CSIP was used to develop our PL Action Plan in the Open Meeting which was well-publicized to ALL staff, and all staff are constantly reminded via AM report, announcements, etc. to provide input in ALL school decisions. The PL Action Plan supports quality instruction as it is well-grounded in the Learning 360 framework. The Efficiency Committee and principal analyze data from each PL opportunity and use it to improve future offerings and to ensure that training is job embedded. This data is shared schoolwide in staff meetings. PL fidelity is checked via lesson plan monitoring (lesson plans uploaded to OneDrive and on teacher desk), Walk-Throughs, Instructional Rounds, Evaluations, PLC discussions, etc. A&H teachers have multiple opportunities on the plan and have been encouraged to ask for release days, other trainings, etc. as they find them. The principal asks for needs in summative conferences and make suggestions. Every decision made at LCMS is data-based and based on best practices and research. Each full-time teacher has two plannings (one grade level and one departmental PLC meeting per week). Teachers have 4 PD days, 5 G-days (planning days), and multiple other opportunities to collaborate as a full staff.

A&H teachers have a discussion with principal during summative conferences as they work to develop the Individual Professional Learning Plan and Professional Growth Plan. All PD is selected based on school data, CSIP, and individual needs. Impact is evident through our improving school data (see School Report Card, school data displays, OneDrive, etc.). A&H teachers lead PLCs, PDs, SBDM, school committees, etc. A&H teachers are members of arts organizations at the state and district level. A&H teachers collaborate with community through our program review committee and advisory council. The principal attends all advisory council committees, asks for program input from community stakeholders, and brings back info to PR committee if A&H teachers cannot attend. A&H teachers are encouraged to ask for release time if they need it to meet with stakeholders. A&H teachers lead a PD in the summer to plan and devise integrated units with ALL teachers.

The LCMS Principal attends various Advisory Council meetings per meeting minutes and evidence uploaded to OneDrive (Interagency, FRYSC, 21CCLC, CSH, etc.). She asks at each meeting how we can improve our A&H, PLCs, and Writing programs. She networks to enable connections for guest speakers, field trips, etc. She brings back information to each Program during PLCs, after school meetings, emails, personal discussions, etc. She is an active member of over 13 committees, all school PLCs and committees, etc. Evidence is within minutes showing principal's attendance at Advisory Council Meetings and uploaded proof on OneDrive of emails from meetings.

Our SBDM council has devised multiple policies ensuring that arts instruction is part of the school curriculum and is integrated in other courses. We even have this indicated in our school commitment statement. Integration is also included in our PL Action Plan. We have full class time for all 4 arts classes, competitions, programs, O-Zone activities, and school clubs for the arts. ALL teachers are invited to Open Meetings for budget, schedule, etc. discussions in committees, SBDM, and with principal. If they cannot attend, they are encouraged to give verbal or email input to a committee member. Reminders are sent via text, email, AM report, school announcements, calendars, newspapers, etc. Teachers are encouraged to write grants, do fundraisers, add school fees, add to supply list, ask principals, etc. if additional money is needed for program improvements. IC Class load summaries, maps, and visual observations indicate that class loads and school space are equitable and appropriate. Program Review: Practical Living/Career Studies

Introduction

This report contains Program Review results for Practical Living/Career Studies. This program review is required as part of Kentucky's new assessment and accountability model. A Program Review is a systematic method of analyzing components of an instructional program, including instructional practices, aligned and enacted curriculum, student works samples, formative and summative assessments, professional development and support services, and administrative support and monitoring. (KRS 158.6453(l)(i)) Diagnostic tools to capture and report the results from these program reviews are contained in the AdvancED's Adaptive System of School Improvement Support Tools (ASSIST). ASSIST allows schools and institutions to gain better understanding of past successes and opportunities, and confidently build a solid, research-based improvement plan for the future.

We have SBDM policies (8.01, etc) that guarantee equitable access to high quality, rigorous, ALIGNED, differentiated curriculum in ALL courses. WKSEC and ABRI teams ensure we provide differentiated learning to all students. Our school website contains the curriculum documents for health. PD plans show that the documents were developed and annually reviewed with K-12 collaboration. Syllabi on class websites show that the standards are communicated to parents/students. Lesson plans ("LCMS SISI" OneDrive Group) document that the curriculum is addressed with students. The health teacher collaborates with outside resources such as Hope Unlimited to help students understand the importance of healthy behaviors. We have a Wellness Club and many speakers attend the meetings and the community took part in a field trip for these students. KIP data was used and we procured a FREE, research based program to deliver through health classes called Project ALERT. Students receive annual instruction in health as it is integrated in our PE curriculum which every student takes every day, every year. We have a Coordinated School Health Committee that meets monthly. Jamie Sparks, Karen McCuiston, and Jaci Wooley are just three of our many presenters.

We have SBDM policies (8.01, etc) that guarantee equitable access to high quality, rigorous, ALIGNED, differentiated curriculum in ALL courses. WKSEC and ABRI teams ensure we provide differentiated learning to all students. Our school website contains the curriculum documents for PE. PD plans show that the documents were developed and annually reviewed with K-12 collaboration and used national standards to ensure quality instruction. Syllabi on class websites show that the standards are communicated to parents/students. Lesson plans ("LCMS SISI" OneDrive Group) document that the curriculum is addressed with students and integrated into other courses. The PE teacher collaborates with outside resources such as Detra Coley, Crissy Carter, Serina Dickerson, Healthy & Wise Publications, Hope Unlimited, etc. to help students understand the importance of physical activity. We have a Wellness Club and many speakers attend the meetings and the community took part in a field trip for these students. The President's Challenge is given pre and post to enable students to establish both short and long term goals. This info is used to construct each individual's Fitness Plan. SE staff work with PE teacher to customize plans to address the needs of special education students. Students are routinely exposed to to guest speakers in a variety of career fields (UK Extension Agent, Livingston County Hospital Director of Nutrition, Registered Dietician, Full Body Fitness Speaker, etc.).

Learning 360 strategies are used to ensure differentiation and a variety of learning strategies. We have a Coordinated School Health (CSH) Committee that meets monthly. Jamie Sparks, Karen McCuiston, and Jaci Wooley are just three of our many presenters. The CSH committee is focused on goals for a healthy SCHOOLWIDE program, and we will change our practices accordingly to reach a minimum of proficiency in all characteristics and to provide a health literate curriculum for our students. The PE teachers works to integrate other core content into her lessons (literacy through journaling, Healthy and Wise Newspaper, Math through Target heart Rate Calculations, Bowling Scores, etc.). Other courses work to integrate physical activity (Dance with both locomotor and Non-Loomotor movement, various courses use dance (movement) to foster memorization, etc.).

They go to an interactive mall to learn marketing/advertising techniques as well as on-line shopping safety tips. They utilize the BB&T banking booklets to learn to manage accounts. The community helps us instill the importance of consumerism through Reality Store and Operation Preparation. Students use math in checkbook balancing and budgeting skills. They use literacy skills in reading advertisements, decision making, and analyzing the situations. Students learn about consumerism in social studies as economics play a huge role in shaping of history. Math classes use economics in their word problems (rate of change, % of increase, linear programming, etc.). Our students run the Cardinal Book Store in the morning. They decide what to purchase, track inventory, count money, make change, advertise, etc. Students use interactive websites to learn about consumerism.

We have SBDM policies (8.01, etc) that guarantee equitable access to high quality, rigorous, ALIGNED, differentiated curriculum in ALL courses. WKSEC and ABRI teams ensure we provide differentiated learning to all students. Our school website contains the curriculum documents for Career Studies. These documents are aligned with national and state standards, differentiated with multi-modal learning, integrate rigorous 21st century skills, and includes student-centered performance tasks. Curriculum includes needs of local business/industry as our principal attends all advisory committee meetings with community stakeholders and asks for their input in improving our programs. These community members also serve as guest speakers, career advisors, Operation Preparation volunteers, etc. ILP data is used to pick enrichment/elective courses. PD plans show that the documents were developed and annually reviewed with K-12 collaboration. Syllabi on class websites show that the standards are communicated to parents/students. Lesson plans ("LCMS SISI" OneDrive Group) document that the curriculum is addressed with students. Students research a chosen career by utilizing the ILP website and other internet resources (technology integration), create a PowerPoint presentation, and present the information to the class. Our students consistently practice real-world skills (problem solving, goal setting, critical thinking, decision making, analyzing info, etc.). Career students take part in a goal setting unit at the beginning of the course. During these lessons, students learn about SMART goals and practice it. They are also required to read, analyze, and summarize a goal setting article from the Wall Street Journal. In addition, students practice these skills in their other courses (goals tracked in student agenda book and on ILP, etc.). The careers teacher collaborates with outside resources (Tori Heppner, Doris Cothron, etc.) to help students understand the importance of career planning. 7th graders participate in reality store. 8th graders analyze the Ky Career Clusters and discuss the BLS projections for the fastest growing occupations. Problem solving & use of math/reading/etc. is evident in case study activities where students analyze a real-world problem in a small group setting and present their recommendations to the class. Reality Store and Cardinal Store also utilize problem solving and other core knowledge. Career info is integrated into the whole curriculum: All LCMS teachers each have a section of the ILP that they integrate into their curriculum; each homeroom does a "careers" bulletin board. All students develop and practice leadership skills through various clubs, organization, and athletic teams at LCMS. All students are members of at least two clubs. Each club is required to do a service learning project. Student accomplishments are recognized through quarterly awards assemblies, pictures posted on the school/district websites/facebook/twitter, morning announcements, newspaper, monthly newsletter, bulletin boards, etc.

Parent were given access information at home visits in July, BTS Fair in July, Registration in August, Conferences in October, each Parent Academy, attached to 3rd quarter report card, emails if requested, and at request. School and community trainings took place regularly at Parent Academies, PD, etc. All assessment data is entered in the ILP and used to inform student decision making. LCMS has a school wide intervention plan which is entered in the ILP. Multiple advising programs are in place and documented in the advisement logs of the ILP (see sample ILPs uploaded to OneDrive). The District ILP Plan ensures regular meetings between students and CCR advising. The District ILP plan is in place and monitored by the District Supervisor of Instruction. The ILP is included in our CSIP. There are 3 checkpoints in our ILP plan.

Per LCMS SBDM Assessment policy 13.02, all assessments are developed using both the KCAS, national standards, POS, and 21st century skills and knowledge. Assessments are responsive to a variety of learning styles and abilities and included student choice. Assessment data is used to individualize instruction and plan for student achievement. Students participate in pre- and post-assessments in the Presidential Challenge in PE. Goals are set after the pre-assessment. At post-assessment, growth is celebrated. Data from all courses is shared with student and parents and goals are made. A congruency protocol is utilized in Departmental PLCs in order to ensure alignment between the standard and the assessment. Learning 360 training has helped us differentiate instruction and assessment. Assessments include performance and project-based measures. Interviewing skills are assessed in group interviewing activities. Peers interview and peer-critique each other using a rubric. The Careers ILP PowerPoint Research Project and Presentation (research career using ILP and other websites, create informative Powerpoint, present to class). PLCS teachers disaggregate lots of data about individual students in PLCs (Learning Style, Formative, Summative, Learning Checks, MAP, EXPLORE, K-PREP, AIMSweb, classroom, attendance, behavior, KIP, teacher's report card, principal's report card, KCSS, Board luncheon, 5 Goals, etc.). Individual goal-setting conferences are held with students. Goals are recorded in the Student Agenda and ILP. All assessment data is shared with students and parents via IC, conferences, emails, phone calls, notes home, midterm progress reports, report cards, etc. Our Title I parent survey showed that 100% of respondents felt we communicated student progress in a timely manner.

PLCS teachers develop rubrics in order to let students know their expectations before the assignment and also use these to assess student performance. For example, a scoring guide/rubric is given to Career class students and discussed before starting the projects. After the projects are completed, students are assessed using the same rubric. Learning 360 training on quality feedback has helped us in this area. Consistent and timely feedback is provided on formative assessments initially and culminates via the IC website, where both students and parents can access current grades. Teachers also make a diligent effort to return work promptly. Conferences are also a forum for feedback and planning a students' futures. In addition, SMART goal setting is discussed, practiced, and utilized by students in the Career class. Individual goal setting conferences with students are also used to discuss and refine educational and career goals. Finally, parents are encouraged to log-in to the ILP website and to review and comment on their student's ILP. Last year, LCMS has 100% participation by parent on this and we did it this year for the second year in a row. We were the only school in KY to have 100% parent review in 2011-2012 and were featured in an article in the KY Teacher. On the Title I Parent Survey for 2012-2013, 100% of parents who responded indicated that we provided timely feedback.

The CSIP is written based on needs assessment data. The CSIP and individual teacher professional growth needs drive our PD choices. All PDs are evaluated & job embedded. The evaluation feedback is used to design the next training. Learning 360 and co-teaching are research based 3-year initiatives for our school. Both support quality instruction for ALL disciplines. Peer observations, Observation 360, walk-throughs, and instructional rounds assess the fidelity of program implementation and IRs are paramount in suggesting next steps. PLCs enable job-embedded teacher chosen topics for professional learning. Each teacher meets at least twice each week in PLCs during school time (one grade level and one departmental). Departmental PLCs take on a teacher growth mindset and grade level PLCs discuss individual student growth. An 8-period SCHOOL day allows each teacher 2 planning periods each day. A 5-Planning Day (G-day) DISTRICT calendar allows our teachers 5 days to plan together as a full staff. Teachers may request any time that they need to meet to talk about student achievement and coverage will be secured for their classes. We feel this time during school to collaborate, train, and lead allows great opportunities for participation in PD activities

Before the CSIP is written, a massive data analysis is done and needs assessment prepared. This drives the writing of the CSIP. The activities in the CSIP drive our potential PLAP. Then, the individual needs of the teacher are considered in tailoring a IPGP and thus IPLAP. Teachers are provided many content specific choices for PD. Impact is evident as our walk-through data is improving. Every data point that we track is improving (please see data displays in our school, Open House, School Report Card, etc.). PLCS teachers are leaders in the school by leading grade level, department, and district PLCs. They attend network meetings and professional organization training. They present their training at school PDs, PLCs, etc. They are leaders on school committees, SBDM, etc. PLCS teachers participate in advisory councils, community events, professional organizations, etc. PLCS teachers have some external partners that participate as guest speakers, reality store workers, operation preparation volunteers, advisory council members to make program recommendations, etc. All teachers have a PL day planned to integrate the PLCS curriculum into their course.

The LCMS Principal attends various Advisory Council meetings per meeting minutes and evidence uploaded to OneDrive (Interagency, FRYSC, 21CCLC, CSH, etc.). She asks at each meeting how we can improve our A&H, PLCS, and Writing programs. She networks to enable connections for guest speakers, field trips, etc. She brings back information to each Program during PLCs, after school meetings, emails, personal discussions, etc. She is an active member of over 13 committees, all school PLCs and committees, etc. Evidence is within minutes showing principal's attendance at Advisory Council Meetings and uploaded proof on OneDrive of emails from meetings.

Leadership monitors and evaluates the teaching on a regular basis. The principal observes and evaluates by completing formal and informal observations. She attends most PLC meetings and curriculum, planning, assessment, data, etc. are discussed. The DLT also observes at least monthly (announced and unannounced). Next steps for ensuring that the curriculum is rigorous and engaging for all students is provided immediately following walk-throughs. Lesson plans are monitored over OneDrive to ensure we are keeping with the pacing guide.

The master schedule shows that ALL students participate in the 4 PLCS courses. Our school is committed to a great PLCS curriculum. Most schools integrate courses into others. We have stand alone Career Studies, Consumerism, Health & PE courses. Students take health & PE daily for the entire year. Emails, AM reports, announcements, committee sign ups, master schedule/school calendar document that ALL staff are invited to the open meetings of the Efficiency Committee to plan the school budget. Program Review Next Step Diagnostic

Introduction

The program reviews are intended to guide schools to systematically analyze their comprehensive school programs in the areas of Arts and Humanities, Practical Living/Career Studies, Writing, and the K-3.

This final step is to analyze the findings from each program review to determine how the school will make recommendations to improve and sustain each program.

In-Depth Review

Statement or Question: Identify the programs given an in-depth review during the current school year. You may select more than one.

Response:

- Arts and Humanities
- Practical Living/Career Studies
- Writing

Arts and Humanities Program Review

What areas have been identified as strengths in the Arts & Humanities Program? What is being done to sustain these strengths?

Strengths are student access to the curriculum and planning time. We will sustain these by keeping the same schedule next year. Strengths are also our Professional Learning Action Plan (PLAP) opportunities. We will ensure a solid PLAP for the upcoming year too.

What areas have been identified that need to be improved in the Arts & Humanities Program?

We need to ...

- *ensure interdisciplinary units that integrate all program areas, literacy strands, and 21st century skills are developed in summer training for implementation
- * improve our K-12 vertical collaboration
- *co-develop scoring guides with student input and include columns for self, peer, teacher, and professional feedback
- *provide students models of strong & weak STUDENT work
- *Have students track SMART goals for A&H courses in agenda and record goals/assessment data/awards in ILP
- *encourage teachers to join professional organizations, pick PD based on data, enlist external partners, & take students to more A&H competitions
- *participate in more performance tasks where students create, perform, & respond to the arts
- *arrange for student participation in additional activities that extend beyond the regular school day
- *devise an efficient manner to monitor A&H curriculum AND integration in other content areas

What steps need to be taken to improve the Arts & Humanities program?

Steps

- 1) PL time to design interdisciplinary units
- 2) PL time to collaborate K-12
- 3) Monitor student goal tracking in agenda and ILP
- 4) PLC time to develop sample scoring guides
- 5) Have students develop models of strong and weak student work
- 6) Talk with A&H teachers about joining organizations, PD plans, partners, and competitions
- 7) Develop more performance tasks
- 8) Develop more extended day opportunities
- 9) Discuss monitoring curriculum with leadership team
- 10) Work on developing common assessments with other counties, rigorous/differentiated/HO tasks, & improved feedback/21st century skills/literacy

Practical Living/Career Studies Program Review

What areas have been identified as strengths in the Practical Living/Career Studies Program? What is being done to sustain these strengths?

We are very strong in our implementation of the ILP. We will continue all the things we currently do and try to think of ways to better integrate the ILPs use in all classes and to communicate that parents need to regularly review the ILP and students need to constantly enter achievements in it (even non-school awards, etc.).

What areas have been identified that need to be improved in the Practical Living/Career Studies Program?

We need to ...

- *ensure interdisciplinary units that integrate all program areas, literacy strands, and 21st century skills are developed in summer training for implementation
- * improve our K-12 vertical collaboration
- *co-develop scoring guides with student input and include columns for self, peer, teacher, and professional feedback
- *provide students with models of strong and weak student work
- *ensure students complete SMART goal setting page for PLCS courses in agenda and enter goals in ILP
- *encourage teachers to join professional organizations, pick PD based on data & content, enlist external partners, & take students to PLCS competitions
- *participate in Stock Market Game, performance tasks, and activities that extend beyond the regular school day
- *discuss with Coordinated School health committee an efficient manner to monitor ... curriculum with HECAT & NHES, data to review/revise Wellness Policies, CSPAP physical activity, NASPE mastery
- *apply for Let's Move Active Schools and Healthy Schools Program Bronze Level National Recognition

What steps need to be taken to improve the Practical Living/Career Studies program?

Steps

Writing Program Review

What areas have been identified as strengths in the Writing program? What is being done to sustain these strengths?

We feel the methods in which we disaggregate data and chose professional learning are strengths. Also, we love our school schedule that allows a minimum of 2 PLCs per week. We will sustain these by keeping a similar 8-period day schedule allowing for 2 daily plannings and continuing to look at data and set SMART goals.

What areas have been identified that need to be improved in the Writing program?

In Writing, we need to ...

- *ensure interdisciplinary units that integrate all program areas, literacy strands, and 21st century skills are developed in summer training for implementation
- * improve our K-12 vertical collaboration
- *co-develop scoring guides with student input and include columns for self, peer, teacher, and professional feedback
- *provide students with models of strong and weak student work
- *monitor student completion of SMART goal setting page for ELA courses in agenda and ensure they enter in ILP
- *encourage teachers to join professional organizations, pick PD based on data, enlist external partners, & take students to writing competitions
- *arrange for student participation in more activities that extend beyond the regular school day
- *discuss with leadership an efficient manner to monitor ... writing policy and plan
- *improve technology & local/global communication

What steps need to be taken to improve the Writing program?

Writing Steps

- 1) PL time to design interdisciplinary units
- 2) PL time to collaborate K-12
- 3) Monitor goals sheet completion in student agenda book
- 4) PLC time to develop sample scoring guides
- 5) Develop models of strong and weak student work
- 6) Talk with teachers about joining organizations, PD plans, partners, and competitions

Career Advising Diagnostic

Introduction

Kentucky is committed to ensuring that every student reaches proficiency and graduates from high school ready for college and/or career. A strategy for comprehensive college and career advising, connecting students to adults that may advise them on college and career options is integral to reaching this goal. This diagnostic can be used by schools to determine the level of implementation of a Comprehensive College and Career Advising Program and can be used in conjunction with Program Review for Practical Living/Career Studies.

A Comprehensive College and Career Advising Program should:

1. Be School-Wide;
2. Implement or Employ the Individual Learning Plan (ILP) as the core component of college and career advising and exploration;
3. Unite students, staff, parents, the community, businesses, and higher education; and
4. Aim to reduce dropout rates, raises graduation rates, and helps pave the way for students to seek post-secondary pursuits after high school (Hodges, 2010; Schanfield, 2010).

To be most effective schools should create a School Counseling Program Advisory Council, as recommended by the American School Counselor Association National Model (3rd ed.) (ASCA, 2012). In order to effectively meet the needs of all students the Advisory Council should be diverse and consist of representatives from school staff, students, parents, and the community. The involvement of many stakeholders ensures program continuity and broadens the scope of content knowledge, skill development, and the formation of habits necessary for students to be successful in adulthood.

Role and Responsibilities of a School Counsel Program Advisory Council

The Advisory Council helps develop the Comprehensive College and Career Advising plan, which includes interventions that target the unique academic, career and personal/social needs of students as identified through needs assessments, grades, ILP reporting, EPAS scores, Student Gallup Poll results, and other school related data. (3rd ed.) (ASCA, 2012).

Evidence-based monitoring is the responsibility of the school counseling program advisory council to ensure that relevant objectives are met and reached. Revisions of the program are intentional, timely and responsive to student and school needs. Data analysis is used to set priorities for services to address academics, behavior, attendance, retention, and acceleration needs. Further, as described by ASCA (<http://www.ascanationalmodel.org/content.asp?contentid=21>), data are used "to measure the results of the program as well as to promote systemic changes within the school system so every student graduates college- and career-ready" (2012). The School Counseling Program Advisory Council should prioritize services that address the school's Comprehensive Improvement Plan concerning college and career readiness, proficiency for all students and eliminating achievement gaps.

In addition to including ALL students, the advising program must be scheduled to occur at regular intervals throughout the school year and be structured to include frequent updating of student ILPs. Imbedding the ILP into the advising system is critical to: supporting students to set and meet goals, helping teachers building relationships with students, and empowering schools to meet the needs of all students.
